

A large excavator with a black arm and bucket is shown in the process of loading a yellow dump truck. The excavator's arm is extended, and its bucket is tilted, pouring a dark, rocky material into the truck's bed. The background features a steep, forested hillside under a clear sky. The scene is set in a mining or construction environment.

Teammates

"A completely different type of mining culture where you're able to have fun at work, but still be safe and productive. Turner Mining invests in their employees and people are given the chance to grow."

- Project Manager

"Working for Turner Mining is a company that treats you like family, that supports and helps you grow from a driver, to operator, or even a Forman the sky's the limit with a fast growing company that does not treat you like a number, and gives you the opportunity for an amazing career where you get to work outdoors and travel through out the state's."

- Haul Truck Driver

Partners

"Turner Mining Group not only delivered on the experience that was promised, they set the bar! Safety is always my top priority and the Turner team at my location accomplished some pretty difficult tasks without injury or incident. They were even subjected to several MSHA inspections in which there were no citations. They delivered on what they said they would do, communication was excellent, and there were no change orders when conditions changed. I would highly recommend Turner Mining."
